

Contents

List of illustrations	vii
Preface to the second edition	ix
Chapter 1 Putting assessment into context	1
1 Values for best practice in assessment	2
2 Why should we assess?	5
3 What are we assessing? A checklist	8
4 When should we assess?	10
5 Designing learning outcomes and linking them to assessment	12
6 Plagiarism, cheating and assessment	16
7 Monitoring the quality of assessment processes	18
8 Don't assess like this!	21
9 'I wish I hadn't done that!'	23
Chapter 2 Exams of various sorts	26
10 Traditional unseen, time-constrained written exams	27
11 Open-book exams	40
12 Open-notes exams	42
13 Structured exams	44
14 Vivas – oral exams	49
15 Some other kinds of examination	53
Chapter 3 Specific assessment formats	55
16 Essays	56
17 Reviews and annotated bibliographies	60
18 Reports	64
19 Practical work	68
20 Portfolios	71
21 Presentations	78
22 Assessing performances	86

CONTENTS

23	Student projects	89
24	Poster displays and exhibitions	93
25	Dissertations and theses	97
26	Work-based learning	100
Chapter 4 Feedback and assessment		104
27	Quality of feedback	105
28	Helping students to make the most of your feedback	107
29	Reducing your load: short cuts to good feedback	110
30	Feedback in writing or print	113
31	Face-to-face feedback	119
32	Electronic feedback	122
Chapter 5 Involving students in their own assessment		130
33	Why consider student peer assessment?	131
34	What lends itself to peer assessment?	133
35	Getting started with peer assessment	135
36	Getting students to formulate criteria	137
37	Student self-assessment	144
38	Setting up self-assessment tutor dialogues	147
39	Further questions to elicit reflection	150
40	Yet more questions to promote reflection	153
Chapter 6 Assessing group learning		156
41	Take the simplest path	157
42	Divide and concur	158
43	Add differentials	159
44	Add contribution marks	161
45	Add more tasks	162
46	Test them orally	163
47	Test them in writing	164
References and further reading		165
Index		168