

Contents

List of Tables, Figures, and Exhibits	xi
Preface	xv
Acknowledgments	xxv
The Authors	xxvii
Part One: Introduction	1
1 Themes and Purposes	3
2 Educators' Ways of Knowing About Learning	30
Part Two: Exploring Learning in College and Beyond	67
3 Student as Learner	69
4 Learner as Developing Person	105
5 Graduate as Performer and Contributor	143
Part Three: Interpreting and Envisioning Learning That Lasts	177
6 Integrating Domains of Growth Through Transformative Learning	179
7 Creating the Learning-to-Teaching Connection	216
Part Four: Fostering Learning That Lasts	257
8 Integrating Theory, Research, and Practice	259
9 Thinking Through a Curriculum for Learning That Lasts	288
10 Rethinking Inquiry That Improves Teaching and Learning	330
11 Transforming the College Culture Toward Learning That Lasts	359
12 Looking Ahead	406

X CONTENTS

Appendix A: Alverno College Ability-Based Learning Program	415
Appendix B: Studies of Longitudinal Perspectives Interviews with Students and Alumnae	425
Appendix C: Human Potential Measures Through Time: Means and Standard Deviations for Fully Longitudinal Data	429
Appendix D: Causal Modeling and Measurement Specifications	431
Appendix E: Loadings on Ability Factors from Behavioral Event Interviews in Paid Employment Settings	437
Appendix F: Correlations of Ability Factors with Human Potential Measures: Five-Year Alumnae	441
Appendix G: Deliberative Inquiry Process for Thinking Through Principles for Learning That Lasts	443
Appendix H: Developing Perspectives of Students on Self Assessment, Using Feedback, Commitment to Improvement, and Role of Criteria	447
Appendix I: Student and Two-Year Alumna Perspectives on Learning Outcomes and Causal Attributions to Alverno Curriculum	453
Appendix J: Five-Year Alumna Perspectives on Learning Outcomes and Causal Attributions to Alverno Curriculum and Culture	455
Appendix K: Participating Institutions in Selected Consortia	459
References	465
Name Index	501
Subject Index	509