

Set Up Your Windows XP Computer to Save Power

June 17, 2004

Remembering to turn off your computer when you are not using it can be a hard thing to do, but you can easily set up your computer to save power without you having to worry about it in three easy steps:

1. Select Start / Control Panel / Performance and Maintenance

2. Select the Power Options icon.

3. Change your settings so that your computer will automatically power off when you are not using it.

Visit <http://www.uni.edu/energy> for more information.